

September 25, 2009

Star chef Todd English sups in Huntington

12:15 PM By Joan Reminick

Iron Chef-restaurateur-cookbook author-major hottie Todd English was in Huntington Wednesday night for a dinner at Porto Vivo. At his table were owners Joy Mangano and Philipp Seipelt, along with Seipelt's wife, Christie.

So, what was on the English plate? From a selection of antipasti, he went with roasted fennel in blood orange vinaigrette. This was followed by roasted suckling pig with creamy gnocchi and broccoli rabe. The meal (but not the evening) ended with a chocolate souffle.

Not one to be a party-pooper, English repaired to the bar after dinner to sign autographs and knock back litchi martinis.

WGBH photo of Todd English